"Safe and Happy In Norwood Everyday"

Our annual SHINE day has taken place today and a range of different activities have been held to support and reinforce our regular work on cyber safety in our PSHE curriculum.

Reception children have looked at e-safety through the Adventures of Smartie the Penguin, Year 1 and 2 discussed the NSPCC's Underwear Rule, Year 3 and 4 discussed the NSPCC's Share Aware Rule, while Year 5 and 6 had a talk on all aspects of keeping safe online from Cath Elvey, Cyber Safety Programme manager for the Police's North West Cyber Safety Unit.

These are some of the key websites for parents and carers to access further information.

nspcc.or.uk/underwearrule

There is also a range of advice and links to further information in the Parents tab on the school website under the Keeping Safe section.

We are holding a Cyber Safety workshop for parents and carers in school to develop their awareness of some of the many issues children can face on the on the internet and through mobile phones on Monday 6th March between 1.15pm - 3.00pm.

SENSORY BOXES ARRIVE AT NORWOOD

This week at Norwood we received a special delivery. Thanks to fundraising by the charity 'Charlie's Way', which was matched by school, we have been able to buy sensory resource boxes for each year group. After a visit from the occupational therapist, Helen Murphy, who delivered an awareness training session to all staff, we have filled our boxes with items which will support and aid concentration. Balance cushions and ear defenders are just a couple of the items which will support children who have sensory needs with their learning.

Thank you again to everyone at 'Charlie's Way'!
